Editors Message:

The new year is just around the corner and our run calendar is complete. Do keep in mind the calendar is not set in stone if you have a hair brain idea to try this or that, then do it. The first run is January 14th - 17th (flip to the very last page of this newsletter) near where the King of the Hammers race will be held. Even if you are not prepared to run the hammer trails, just puttin' around Johnson Valley and watching the teams prepare for race day is very exciting.

If the El Nino storms do appear as predicted, it could make our snow runs very interesting. Including some new proud owners of cow bells.

If you haven't purchased your CAL4 wheel raffle tickets, I encourage you to do so. All profits go towards keeping trails open.

We have some new members and more guest continue to attend our meetings. Lets, make them feel welcome, introduce yourself.

Emi does have whip flags and stickers for sale. See her at the January meeting.

We are still on the lookout for a new meeting place. That will accommodate our growing club. We would like to stay in the general area where we are now.

And regarding cow bells, Frank Gilliland, has been driving around with all 4 now for a few months. What's with this?

See you on the trail.

Black Canyon Run

Run Date: Saturday – November 7, 2015

3. Josh Schiller + family

Eleven Jeeps met at the T/A Center near Barstow ready to hit the trail. After a short ride to the end of the pavement on Hinckley Rd., we stopped to air down. Chris Goodman was having issues with his Jeep. A front control arm bolt kept loosening and a seal leak was getting worse. Chris headed home rather than risk a trail breakdown.

The weather for the day was beautiful: clear sunny skies, light wind and temperature in the high 60's.

The remaining ten Jeeps headed into Black Canyon. A mile or so into the wash is a small section of rocks off to the left of the main trail. Each Jeep had a chance loosen up its suspension on the small rocks. We made a couple of short stops to view a 'Tillman' signature and Black Canyon well. Tillman was a traveler who passed through Black Canyon in 1874 and left his elaborate signature on the rocks near existing Indian petroglyphs.

We headed out of Black Canyon on Opal Mtn. Rd., a rocky trail that winds through the hills to the base of Opal Mtn. We then headed north and west to Scouts Cove, a manmade shelter carved into the side of a hill by miners.

We headed north from Scouts cove out of the hills, then east past the Birdman Indian Petroglyph. This famous image has been adopted as a logo by the American Institute of Archeology. There is a 'Tillman' signature right below the Birdman petroglyph. We continued another mile to Inscription Canyon, a small rocky canyon with many interesting Indian petroglyphs.

After lunch we headed south up a rocky section to the base of a hill climb. The hill climb is steep but not difficult. We headed south to a nice view point on the east side of Opal Mountain.

From here the trail heads south first through the hills then a little east. Part of the group stopped to help a Tarantula safely cross the trail. The things we will do to help the desert critters! We took a short trail that heads north to dead end at a dry lake. After a lap around the lake and a short break we continued to a place called Murphy's well. Up near the top of a rock pile is a large flat stone with some very impressive and well preserved Indian Petroglyphs.

From Murphy's well we headed back to pavement at Hinkley Rd to air up and head home. Overall a great group and a really fun day exploring the Black Canyon/Opal Mountain area.

The weather was perfect although it did get v cold at night.

Cow bells earned: None, darn I thought for sure there would be a couple.

We met out front of the Calico entrance. Early on the run leader learned that he could not get his Black Jeep into low range. So he took his jeep back to camp and rode shot gun with Pete. the goal this time was to go in reverse of what we typically do. We went up Duran Canyon and back down Odessa Canyon. Duran is a series of ledges that we crawled over. At the first 2 ledges a couple jeeps had difficulty getting up I advised them to bail as I new this trail would not get any easier. One of the ledges I expected a few drivers to use their winches but everyone made it up (lockers do help). A few caught some air which was fun.

After lunch we made our way to the Bismark Mine and around to Odessa. Odessa is always fun and very narrow but we made.

Josh had been bragging that he could make it through the Duran gate keeper.

So after getting to the bottom of Odessa we drove around to the start of Duran and stared at the very large rocks. Josh did not see the line and chickened out (probably a good thing it was getting late).

Josh if you want to see how others have done it or not, search “calico gate keeper”.

DD Trail Ratings

Trail ratings are subjective and weather conditions over the years can change a trail. An easy trail can become more difficult after or during rain. The trail leader needs to be the final judge of trail conditions the day of the run. If any part of a trail is difficult the trail is rated difficult. If difficult sections have bypasses the trail may be suitable for less capable rigs or less experienced drivers.

E – Easy (Black Canyon, Mohave Trail)

M – Moderate (Devils Loop, Miller Jeep Trail)

D – Difficult (John Bull, Calico)

Easy trails could include these conditions:

- Any dirt, sand or gravel road.
- Gentle to mildly steeper hill climbs, mild rocky sections and/or soft sandy sections.
- Four wheel drive may not be necessary all the time.
- Pot holes or ruts that require high ground clearance.
- Water crossings up to 12 inches deep.
- Suitable for full size vehicles.
- Low gears may be required on hill climbs.
- Recommend 4 wheel drive vehicle
- Suitable for most tire sizes

(M) Moderate trails could include these conditions::

- Steep rutted and rocky hill climbs that require careful tire placement.
- three foot ledges to climb and/or steep drop offs.
- Rocky sections that can cause body or rim damage.
- Water crossings might have rocks and could be deeper than 12 inches.
- Brush or cactus may scratchy vehicles.
- These trails will require low range gears, high ground clearance and 4WD.
- Skid plates and body protection are recommended.
- Minimum 33 inch or bigger tires.
- Recommend at least rear axle locker.

(D) Difficult trails could include these conditions:

- Rocks as big as your tire to as big as your vehicle.
- Hill climbs are steep and may require extended wheel travel.

- These trails can have long sections of large rocks that require careful tire placement. .
- Three foot + ledges to climb and steep drop offs.
- Body damage possible.
- These trails will require vehicle modifications such as suspension lifts, body protection and skid plates.
- Minimum 35 inch or bigger tires.
- Recommend front and rear axle lockers.

10 reasons to be a trail leader:

10 – You pick the trail (hopefully someone will want to run it with you)

9 – You pick the run start time and meet spot

8 – You write the run announcement

7 – You pick the CB channel (duh 4)

6 – You conduct the drivers meeting (best if done before you start the trail)

5 – You carry the Dirt Devils club first aid kit (hopefully you know how to use it)

4 – You pick the bathroom stops (more stops keep you out trouble)

3 – You are the spotter when someone needs help (you'll get a lot of exercise)

2 – You will get unwavering support from all drivers even when you are hopelessly lost and confused.

1 – You get to ride in front of everyone out of the dust (this the only good reason to be a trail lead)

Recommended trail tools:

1. Socket Set (some vehicles use both standard & metric), ratchet and extensions
2. Combination wrenches (some vehicles use both standard & metric)
3. Vise grips
4. Adjustable jaw pliers and channel locks
5. Crescent Wrench
6. Spark plug wrench
7. Screwdrivers (Standard & Philips)
8. Hammer 9. Bottle Jack
10. Utility Knife
11. Hacksaw
12. Latex Gloves
13. Tire plug kit
14. Hacksaw
15. Rags
16. Funnel
17. Flashlight / work light (extra batteries)
18. Ratchet straps
19. Cordless tools (impact driver, saw, etc.)

Spare parts and consumables:

The extreme situations: carry no spare parts, or carry so many your rig breaks due to the extra weight. What you need to do is get somewhere in the middle by carrying parts that are most likely to fix your broken rig. If you have knowledge of your vehicle, any special items can be added. If your rig has a history of U joint issues carry a spare.

Sample Spare parts list: add or subtract as needed!

1. Fuses, electrical wire, electrical tape, duct tape, nylon wire ties, silicon sealer
2. Miscellaneous nuts, bolts and hardware
3. Fan belts, hose, clamps
4. Valve stems, tire plugs
5. Engine oil, brake fluid, transmission fluid, etc.
6. Coolant or water for the radiator

A breakdown will likely include crawling under the vehicle and messy parts. Bring a blanket, towel or plastic trash bag that you can lay on. They also help keep parts and tools away from the dirt.

Cowbells

The cow bell rules are: If you get stuck and are unable to move under your own power and need the help of a winch or you get strapped from one of your fellow jeepers then you have earned the privilege of hanging a cow bell from your front bumper. You must leave the cow bell on the front of your rig until another Dirt Devil gets stuck then, you can proudly hand it over. This starts at the beginning and the end of the trail, not on the highway.

Coordinates: 34.337231, -116.579934

Trip description: There are a couple of options if you choose to join us for this trip. I will be leading two trails in hammer town. Claw hammer trail on Saturday, and Sledge hammer on Sunday. More on both of these below. There is also staging and testing for King of the Hammers off-road race at Means dry lake. KOH is run annually and is one of the biggest off-road races on the west coast. I have attached a link with KOH info below if you are not familiar. Last year when we came out around the same time there were race teams out testing their vehicles and making adjustments. We saw a competitor out on the trail and got a firsthand up close look at their tube buggy in action. It was really cool!

Technically this is not the event itself so it would be informal and I don't have any contacts or connections there so I won't promise anything as far as tours or meet and greets, etc. Instead I will be out on the trails mentioned above. There is also some easier trail options in the area if you would like to go out and explore or put together another option for people. The area has a lot to offer if you just want to come out and camp with some good people and check it out. I have included details about the camp site and lodging options below. Also you can do either of these runs as day runs if you prefer.

Area and trail descriptions: Hammer town and the trails in this area are HARD! Very HARD! These trails I have chosen are both short and considered to be some of the easier trails for this area, but make no mistake, this is a whole different level. Body damage and breakage is very possible. We had 3 of 5 vehicles use their winch last time we ran Claw hammer but no body damage. The time before some vehicles did take some dings but no breakage. As a result I am going to limit the number of vehicles on these trails to 15 and ask that you RSVP if you would like to join us. I will ask you questions about experience and vehicle build as I want to be sure you are prepared for the level of trail we are going to run. Please don't take it personal, I just want to get to know who I'm guiding through. There are a ton of videos on you tube for both of these trails and I would encourage you to watch some to acclimate yourself. I have attached a couple of links below that include a detailed write up on the area as well as some videos that seemed fairly accurate in their representation. Try to picture yourself on those obstacles in your Jeep and ask yourself if this is something that you want to try. That being said, I want to scare you, but they are REALLY Fun! We have done Claw Hammer as a club run with about 12 vehicles and it went very well. A couple of people turned back but most made it thru unscathed and we finished before night time. Lucerne Valley is an off-road playground and if you have never been there you should really check it out. There are continuous talks about closures and limited use of this area and who knows how long it will be open. It is an amazing resource.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8rvN11IyZZQ>

Difficulty: D+

Minimal equipment: Short wheelbase 33" with front and rear lockers. Long wheel base 35" with lockers. Full skid plates highly recommended. Expect me to ask you questions about this when you RSVP...

Weather: TBD. I know if we have any moisture I do not want to run anything in Johnson Valley. They are hard enough when its dry.

Hotels in the Area: Best western yucca valley (30 min from camp) \(760\) 365 3555

There are also options closer but they were questionable so I did not include them in my write up.

Camping details:

This is a private campsite owned by one of our members who is gracious enough to let us use it. It is a about an acre of graded, packed dirt with a couple of vehicles and a shipping container on it. It is located next to Valley Vista Airport. The access road to the camp is fine for 4x4 and trucks with trailers, but heavy RVs will want to access by crossing the runway (requires escort spotter, it is an active runway). You can put "Valley Vista Airport" into most GPS and it will either come up with a Yucca address or Landers. But it leads you to the right place. About a mile West of Boone Road off 247 is Valley Vista Road. Head south on Valley Vista for 2 miles until you T-bone Quailbush Road at the airport. I will be there and will help direct folks into camp. Camp has the red fire truck, white 5th wheel and brown shipping container. It's a fun spot, and just a couple miles from the Boone Rd entrance to JV.

Again I need to mention this:

THIS IS AN ACTIVE AIRPORT AND WE ARE NOT ALLOWED TO DRIVE ON IT!!!! IF YOU ARE GOING TO BRING A RV THEN WE WILL NEED SET UP A SPOTTER. OTHERWISE STAY OFF THE RUNWAY!!!! This is for your own safety.

We are going to rent a port-a potty for the weekend and there are no service hook ups or showers here. We will have plenty of space to spread out and will be very close to the trails though. I could also use some help with firewood if anyone has a resource here. It would be greatly appreciated!

I'd like to get an idea of who will be able to make it and we can talk about food for the weekend. Maybe we can do a pot luck? If you are going to join us for day use please be sure to bring your lunch and plan to eat out on the trail.

Camp ground host (Brad Lark) putts around with his vintage Fire Truck.
